The buzz and rumors continue to swirl around ESPN television and radio personality, Dan Patrick

The latest rumor we're getting says Patrick will be leaving the Worldwide Leader in Sports to take his radio show solo and into syndication.

Think Don Imus, or more closely, Jim Rome.

As to who might replace him should that be the case, the prevailing sense is that Keith Olbermann would slide over into the big chair.

Stay tuned as details surface.
